For issue No.12 of Aint-Bad Magazine we teamed up with a selection of the best curators, photography critics, and educators to create an issue that requires collaboration across all platforms and fields. The goal of issue No.12 is to put the best contemporary photography directly in front of eyes of the curators. While there is not a specific "theme" for this issue, We worked with Curator's whose aesthetic and vision are in line with the work that we have shown in past publications, both online and in print. Each curator has selected two photographers from the call for entry to feature and interview inside of this issue.

Fifteen curators. Thirty-one photographers. This issue is pure collaboration. The final result is a beautiful, hand-curated publication of the best contemporary photography in existence today. Keep your eyes out for exhibitions related to this publication that will be shown in various spaces across the country with the help of our talented curators!
